

Researching Older People's Nursing: The gap between theory and practice

By Smith, Dr Christine

Palgrave Macmillan, UK, 2010. Softcover. Condition: New. Available Now. Book Description: Nursing older people is often considered the 'Cinderella' service. This ground-breaking new book seeks to rectify that, bringing discussion of elderly care to the forefront of research and critical practice. Based on the author's own ethnographic research, it explores the gap between theory (what nurses know) and practice (what nurses actually do), including: ? key theories of older people's nursing: ? day-to-day practices on an elderly care ward: ? the essential skills of caring, nurturing and supporting: ? the importance of critical reflective practice. : Researching Older People's Nursing links the realities of practice with the key principles from 'on the ward' research. It is a fascinating read for nursing students, practitioners and researchers alike. : Book Description: With an ageing population demanding more and better-trained older peoples' nurses, the need for insightful textbooks has never been greater- This book addresses that need head-on : About the Author: DR CHRISTINE SMITH is Director of Primary Care and Community Nursing at the School of Nursing and Midwifery Studies, Cardiff University, UK. She worked as a Staff Nurse and Ward Sister before moving across to academia in 1982. Since then she...
